

About Eric Keller

Born in Basel, Switzerland, and educated in Switzerland, the U.S., the Netherlands, Canada, and Germany, Eric Keller obtained a Ph.D. in Linguistics with a specialisation in psycholinguistics and neurolinguistics from the University of Toronto in 1975. He has taught psycholinguistics, phonetics and computer science at the University of Quebec at Montreal (1978-1991) and at the University of Lausanne (1991-2008).

His interests revolved initially around the brain sciences and artificial intelligence, first in aphasia and dysarthria, and subsequently in normal speakers of English, French and German. He is the author, co-author, editor or co-editor of well over 100 publications (www.permakultura.ch/cv/Kellerdoc.html).

Eric Keller is now professor hon. emeritus of the University of Lausanne. Currently he dedicates his time to...
